I have also developed links \ conducted university business in South Korea, Thailand, Hong Kong, Taiwan, Vietnam and Malaysia.

ADMINISTRATIVE PHILOSOPHY

In 1982 the Kenyan Government appointed me as the director of a national cystic echinococcosis pilot control program where I coordinated a professional team of 8 veterinarians, physicians and scientists and 40 staff, conducted and organized fundraising activities, and produced annual reports. At the Swiss Tropical Institute I had the same mandate but with a much larger organization and budget, which was in excess of US$ 7 million annually. The 24 odd years of administrative and educational roles in a number of countries and cultures have allowed me to develop my administrative skills and philosophy.

Guided by an institutional mission, my administrative philosophy is to collaboratively develop an administrative vision that empowers all members of the team to meet short and long term goals. To achieve this, my approach is to facilitate and enhance team members fiduciary responsibilities by valuing and nurturing the individual qualities of each member. This requires encouraging collegial attitudes and relationships, demonstrating accountability and integrity, and promoting ethical standards and behavior. Thus my philosophy is to be proactive and to focus on good working relationships and goals.

I believe in a commitment to service and in this regard I have donated my time freely to the development and implementation of a charitable and educational foundation, the Windward Islands Research and Education Foundation – WINDREF of which I am the founding director and vice president. Lord Soulsby, DVM serves as the President of this foundation which was established in 1994.

BRIEF TEACHING PHILOSOPHY

I have been fortunate to learn from the following mentors who have shaped and formed my own teaching and graduate supervision philosophy: Louis Leaky (formative years), Igor Mann, DVM, OBE, George S. Nelson, MD, FRCP, Desmond Smyth, ScD, Sir Michael Wood, MD, Calvin W. Schwabe, DVM, Lord Soulsby, DVM and Keith Taylor, MD.

I enjoy teaching veterinary and medical students who are invariably bright, committed and revel in the challenge of learning. Being graduate students they usually have the skills of learning effectively and my philosophy is to place an emphasis on stimulating the students to investigate the subject beyond the classroom. Small group teaching following overview didactic lectures I find is a good format to achieve this learning goal.

TEACHING ACTIVITIES IN 2009

- Parasitology - 32 lectures - per year
- GSP: Tropical Medical Parasitology - 10 lectures and a field trip (this year the trip was to Kenya (15 students) to work with AMREF and the nomadic Masai and look at wildlife:domestic animal: human disease interactions).
